
Ardan Kockelkoren

Urban 95 coordinator, Bernard van Leer Foundation

Ardan Kockelkoren is a subject matter expert for Urban95, the Bernard van Leer Foundation's strategy to incorporate a focus on early childhood development into urban planning and design. He was part of the shaping of the Urban95 approach and currently develops and manages partnerships related to the extraction, curation and distribution of actionable best practices with regards to city design that better meet the needs of babies, toddlers and the people who care for them. Ardan has a background in Human Geography & Urban and Regional Planning.

